

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

The formulation of CMP2 benefited substantially from the extensive deliberations on national economic policy issues in relation to the 10th Malaysia Plan, the New Economic Model (NEM) and the National Key Economic Areas (NKEA) as well as from the discussions on global regulatory reform at various forums, most notably at the International Organization of Securities Commissions (IOSCO) and the ASEAN Capital Market Forum (ACMF).

In addition to these discussions, the work on CMP2 drew from the numerous studies and resources on the websites of securities regulators, universities and other organisations that now represent an invaluable resource for research on capital markets around the world.

It has also become an integral part of the SC Business Plan implementation process to undertake continuous engagements and dialogues with industry stakeholders on a broad range of issues. The SC wishes to thank these stakeholders for their views and support that contributed to the successful implementation of CMP1 and that assisted the formulation of CMP2. In particular, the SC would like to express our appreciation to the following individuals and organisations for their invaluable time in providing feedback and insights at various high-level workshops and engagements:
